

Update on the Library and Courts Building renovation

The Stanley Mosk Library and Courts building at 914 Capitol Mall is nearing completion of its renovation project. The Third District Court of Appeal has already moved back in. The State Library will not begin its move back until May 1. At that time we will begin the process of transporting 35 miles of books (over 4 million titles) from the warehouse in West Sacramento where these books have been stored during the renovation.

West Sacramento Warehouse

As you can see 35 miles of books are a lot of books. So please bear with us during this time. This process will take a number of months to complete. In the meantime all of our library services are still available at our 900 N Street location.

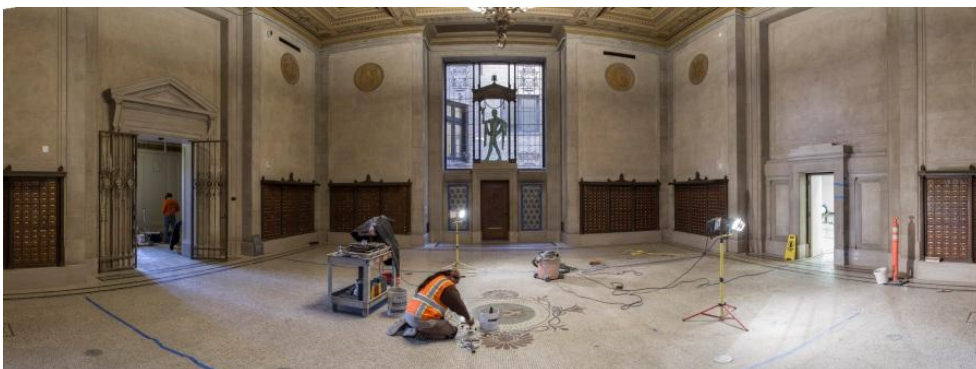

California State Library
900 N Street
Sacramento

Below are a couple of areas where some of those books will go:

Gillis Hall – Stanley Mosk Library and Courts Building
Finishing touches

Circulation Room – Stanley Mosk Library and Courts Building
Restoring mosaic floor